STEEL LEADER THINKS LABOR WILL WIN WAR

Chief of Bethlehem Steel Works Says Workmen Main Essential.

"You can commandeer a working-man, but you can't make him work."
That maxim was given the Senate Commerce Committee, investisating the shipping situation, yesterday, by J. W. Powell, one of Charles Schwab's "young men." Without a gray hair, and his face still boyish, Powell is actual head of the Bethlehem Shipbuilding Corporation, Ltd., with a half-dezen plants on both coasts—the world's biggest shipbuilding concern.

Powell declared, because of the labor situation, it would be all but miraculous if America built 3,000,000 tons of shipping in 1918, as against an official estimate of 6,000,000 by the Shipping Board. Powell banged the committee table vigorously as he gave his views on labor. "the crux, the keystone, the heart and soul of the hole situation.

Men Will Win War. "I have heard Mr. Garfield say coal will win the war." he said; "Mr. Hoover, food; Mr. Qaniels, the navy. Here's what will win the war:

"I have thought the governmen would have to begin with me; put me in uniform; and follow with every man in the yard. Now I know that's wrong. A working man who doesn't

"Laboring men now are where they

"Laboring men now are where they think—and they ary about right—that they can get whatever they want."

Senator Harding—"Do you suggest more firmness?"

Powell—"Absolutely. Let the government fix a good, fair, rate and let it be known that won't be changed for six months."

Senator Martin—"We're at war.

Senator Martin-"We're at war; we can't afford risking delay."
Powell-"You don't settle the problem by yielding; you accumu-

Senator Martin—"We can't afford to lose production while men lay Powell-"And you can't get much

Powell declared President Wilson, and all officialdom down the line, should unite in pressing home to laborers that they were the real pyramid-base of the war.

thing. A thorough test. Don't over-look one bet!"

Powell concluded the working-man's spirit, was only that of the steel manufacturer before prices were set; both, he said, made their price rest on the necessity of the buyer.

Idle School Teachers Form Line to Get Pay

With public schools closed because of the coal famine in the District, every one of the hundreds of Washington high school and graded school teachers was compelled to make the trip to the Franklin School yester-day for pay envelopes. Announce-ment of the check disbursing plan was made Thursday, and for the hour between 3 and 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon, many teachers formed a lon line in the Franklin School.

Those Baltimore Jaunts.

Finding his front door locked last Monday night when he came home from Baltimore, John Farmer went around to the back door. His wife was in bed asleep and positively refused to get up.

As he made his way in the dark to the rear he stumbled over a garbage can. Then a dog howled.

A man next door poked his head out of the window and ordered the noise stopped.

John told him to go where every day is a snowless day.

Then the man dared him to stay where he was until he could come down stairs and attend to him.

John did. The man, Ike Bowman rushed at John with a baseball bar and nearly broke it over his head.

The next a. m. found John sobel enough to get a warrant. Ike said he was justified. John

"Well, you wouldn't do anything of the kind if Dr. George Wood Anderson gave you the chance to send the message, because there were several hundred Sammies who sent message from a certain camp and not one of them said any of these things at all."

Mr. Chesley gives a pen picture of the men sitting on the hard benches in a cold room (for coal is scarce in France) at a Y. M. C. A. meeting, and the messages they sent were these:

"Don't worry, mother, I'm still going straight."
